

DEEP REJUVENATING SLEEP

Sleep influences more than just our mood and motivations. Benefits of sleep go well beyond feeling rested or being more productive at work. New science shows that ongoing lack of sleep or poor-quality sleep can impact heart health, blood pressure, diabetes, make you more susceptible to getting sick, and can even cause depression. Getting a good night's sleep can lead to better emotional health, strengthen your immune system, and can also help manage weight. The National Institutes of Health recommends getting 7-9 hours of sleep each night.*
